Data Management for Research
Erin Abner, PhD
Although often only considered after data have been collected, data management is a critical component in successful research. This presentation will describe basic data management strategies, including variable naming, database design, and documentation and quality assurance.

12:45 - 1:00
Open consultation time with BERD members
The BERD will be available for short consultations or questions on study design, data analysis, statistical software questions, proposal development and/or writing, or any other statistical questions. Full consultations may be scheduled in follow-up to questions asked during this time.
