

Tobacco and substance use in pregnancy

Researchers at the UK Perinatal Research and Wellness Center are conducting a study to better understand if providing additional quit support helps pregnant and postpartum women with opioid dependence stop smoking cigarettes.

You may be eligible if you:

- Are 18-49 years old
- Are currently enrolled in a medication assisted treatment (MAT) prenatal program
- Are less than 20 weeks pregnant
- Are currently smoking cigarettes or using e-cigarettes

If you are eligible and choose to participate, you will be compensated after each of the study visits. All information will remain confidential.

For more information:

Janine 859-667-2230

Tisha 859-412-1867

An Equal Opportunity University

Perinatal Research and Wellness Center