

Are you suspected to have coronary artery disease?

Researchers at the University of Kentucky are conducting a study to learn more about coronary artery disease (CAD). This research study seeks to improve the management and evaluation of non-acute chest pain. Participants will be followed for 12 months after enrollment.

You may be eligible to participate if you:

- Are suspected to have CAD
- Do NOT need urgent or emergent cardiovascular testing
- Have NOT had diagnostic cardiovascular testing within the past year
