

Do you have Obsessive- Compulsive Disorder (OCD)?

Researchers at the University of Kentucky are inviting you to take part in a study focused on the treatment of OCD.

Researchers look to study the effects of cognitive-behavioral therapy (CBT) and non-invasive brain stimulation on OCD symptoms. Eligible individuals can receive FREE state of the art treatment as part of their study participation.

You may be eligible to participate if you:

- Are over 18 years old
- Have significant OCD symptoms
- Do NOT have a serious mental illness (schizophrenia)
- Do NOT have a current substance abuse problem
- Do NOT have significant neurological problems

For more information:

UK Clinic for Emotional Health

ceh@uky.edu

859-562-1571

An Equal Opportunity University