

How Has COVID-19 Affected You?

Researchers at the University of Kentucky invite people age 65 and older to participate in a study on how the pandemic has affected the health and wellbeing of older adults. All information is confidential. Your participation involves one telephone interview that will take approximately one hour to complete. All participants will receive $20 compensation upon completion of study. Participants have the opportunity to complete a second one-hour interview for an additional $20.

You may be eligible to participate if you:

- Are at least 65 years old
- Are on limited financial resources* OR on state-based aid (*$454 weekly or $1,968 monthly for a one-person household; $614 weekly or $2,658 monthly for a two-person household; add $159 weekly for every additional person)
- Are willing to take part in two, one-hour telephone calls

An Equal Opportunity University

For more information:
Caitlin Pope, PhD
859-323-6222