

Do you have a history of ACL reconstruction?

Researchers at the University of Kentucky are inviting you to participate in a study to learn more about the relationship between physical activity and physical literacy in people who have a history of ACL reconstruction. For this study, you will complete a series of surveys, functional tasks, and an interview with the researchers.

Participants can earn up to $40 for their time.

You may be eligible to participate if you:

- Are between 18 - 40 years old
- Have a history of ACL reconstruction within the last 10 years
- Have been cleared for physical activity by a physician
