

Are you healthy with no known eye problems?

Researchers at the University of Kentucky are inviting you to participate in a study investigating a new noninvasive technique to measure blood flow in the eye.

You may be eligible to participate if you:

- Are between the ages of 18-55;
- Do not have diabetes;
- Are not allergic to Iodine; and
- Do or do not wear glasses/contacts.

This study requires a one-time visit that will last approximately 2 hours. You will receive $20/hour for your time and participation.
